Google Analytics 4.0

In order to be able to optimally adapt our websites and apps to user interests, we use "Google Analytics 4.0", a web analysis service from "Google" (Google Ireland Ltd., Gordon House, Barrow Street, Dublin 4, Ireland and Google, LLC 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway Mountain View, CA 94043, USA). The "Google Analytics 4" analysis service uses technologies such as "cookies", "tracking pixels", "device fingerprinting" and programming interfaces to track specific user behavior on websites and in apps. Information stored on users' devices is also processed in the process. With the help of tracking pixels embedded in websites and cookies stored on users' end devices, Google processes the information generated about the use of our website by users' end devices and access data across all end devices for the purpose of statistical analysis - e.g., that a website or several specific web pages have been accessed or that a newsletter registration has taken place.

To analyze usage behavior, we use an application programming interface, the Firebase Software Development Kit (SDK), provided by Google to access end-device information such as the advertising ID (IDFA from Apple and GAID from Google) of the end device used and to enable statistical analysis of the use of the app. Google assigns a randomly generated user ID to which the respective usage behavior is assigned.

Using machine learning methods, Google automatically records user behavior and other events during interaction with our website/app. In addition, a cross-platform analysis of user behavior takes place on websites and apps that use Google Analytics 4 technologies. This makes it possible to record, measure and compare user behavior in different environments. For example, the user's scroll events are recorded automatically to enable a better understanding of how websites and apps are used. Different user IDs from different cookies or end device resources are used for this purpose. We are then provided with anonymized statistics on the use of the various platforms, compiled according to selected criteria.

With the help of "Google Analytics 4", target groups are automatically created for certain cookies or mobile advertising IDs, which are later used for renewed individualized advertising targeting. Target group criteria that can be considered are, for example: Users who have viewed products but not added them to a shopping cart or added them to a shopping cart but not completed the purchase, users who have purchased certain items. In this case, a target group includes at least 100 users. With the help of the "Google Ads" tool, interest-based advertisements can then be displayed in search results. In this way, users of websites can be recognized on other websites within the Google advertising network (in Google search or on "YouTube", so-called "Google Ads" or on other websites) and presented with tailored advertisements based on the defined target group criteria.

For these purposes, it can also be determined whether different end devices belong to you or your household.

Access data includes, in particular, the IP address, browser information, the website previously visited and the date and time of the server request. "Google Analytics 4" automatically shortens the IP address by the last octet in order to make it more difficult to relate it to a person. According to Google, the IP addresses are shortened within member states of the European Union. Due to the "Google Analytics" tool used, the user's browser automatically establishes a direct connection with Google's server. If users are registered with a Google service, Google can assign the visit to the user account and create and evaluate user profiles across applications.

Storage period: The storage period is 14 months.

Third-country transfer: Consent for Google Analytics also includes consent to the possible transfer of data to the USA. The USA is classified by the European Court of Justice as a country without an adequate level of data protection and without appropriate guarantees according to EU standards. In particular, there is a risk that your personal data may be processed by U.S. authorities for control and monitoring purposes, possibly without the possibility of a legal remedy to prevent access to data or to establish the illegality of the access. In addition, it cannot be guaranteed that your data subject rights can be fully implemented and supervisory authorities in the USA will take appropriate remedial action. The use of Google Analytics requires the third country transfer. If you do not wish to consent to the third country transfer, you must deselect Google Analytics.

The legal basis for the processing is your consent according to Art. 6 (1)(a) GDPR. "Google" also processes the data in part in the USA. So-called "standard contractual clauses" have been concluded with Google to ensure compliance with an appropriate level of data protection. Upon request, we will provide you with a copy of the standard contractual clauses. Your data in connection with "Google Analytics 4.0" will be deleted after fourteen months at the latest. Further information on data protection at "Google" can be found at: <http://www.google.de/intl/de/policies/privacy>.

Revocation of your consents to the processing [and third-party transfer] is possible at any time by pushing back the slider in the "Advanced Settings" of the Consent Tool for the respective third-party provider. The lawfulness of the processing remains unaffected until you exercise the revocation.

Google Firebase

Our apps used the following Firebase services provided by Google Ireland Limited, Gordon House, Barrow Street, Dub-lin 4, Ireland ("Google", parent company: Google LLC , USA) to analyze app bugs and fix problems:

- Firebase Crashlytics

When the app crashes, an anonymized crash report is sent to Google in real time. This contains information related to your use of our app on the device state, device type, operating system, app version, time of the crash as well as an ID assigned by Firebase and location data at the time of the crash.

The legal basis for the use of Firebase services is Art. 6 (1)(a) GDPR, our legitimate interest is to provide our app and our services as error-free as possible, to analyze and eliminate any sources of errors and to optimize them accordingly.

Revocation of your consents to the processing [and third-party transfer] is possible at any time by pushing back the slider in the "Advanced Settings" of the Consent Tool for the respective third-party provider. The lawfulness of the processing remains unaffected until you exercise the revocation.

- Firebase Cloud Messaging

To communicate with our users within the app, we use Google's Firebase Cloud Messaging (FCM) messaging capabilities. To enable us to send topic-specific messages to individual recipients or user groups, we create message requests that are processed by Firebase Cloud Messaging to generate message types and send them to the recipients. For this purpose, we use an application programming interface, a Firebase Software Development Kit (SDK), provided by Google to access end device information such as the advertising ID (IDFA from Apple and GAID from Google) of the end device used. Firebase Cloud Messaging generates a message ID after a message request is created or received, which is sent to the recipient's end device via a transport layer. As part of the usage analysis, Google also processes end device information of the recipient, language settings as well as opening and click rates of the respective message.

Storage period: The storage period at Google is 6 months.

Legal basis for the use of Firebase services is Art. 6 (1)(f) GDPR. Our legitimate interest is to provide relevant services to customers, e.g. communicating the status of bike rentals or locations. "Google" also processes some of the data in the USA. So-called "standard contractual clauses" have been concluded with Google to ensure compliance with an appropriate level of data protection. We will provide you with a copy of the standard contractual clauses on request.

You may object to the processing. Your right to object exists for reasons arising from your particular situation. You can send us your objection via the contact details mentioned in the section "Responsible provider".

- Firebase Analytics

We use Google's external analytics and validation features, Firebase Analytics and Firebase Remote Configuration, to optimally tailor the app to users' interests. We use a programming interface, the Firebase Software Development Kit (SDK), provided by Google to access end-device information such as the advertising ID (Apple's IDFA and Google's GAID) of the end device used and to enable statistical analysis of the use of the app and segmentation of user interests. With the help of the Firebase SDK, we can define various events (e.g., average app usage, average sessions per user, button presses) in order to track and understand the behavior of app users across devices and thus optimize and improve the app's functionalities accordingly.

Revocation of your consents to processing [and third party transfer] is possible at any time by pushing back the slider in the "Advanced Settings" of the Consent Tool for the respective third party provider. The lawfulness of the processing remains unaffected until you exercise the revocation.

Facebook Software Development Kit

To evaluate the success of our advertising campaigns, we use the Facebook Software Development Kit ("Facebook SDK") within our app, which is provided by Meta Platforms Ireland Ltd. Merrion Road, Dublin 4 Ireland ("Facebook"). The Facebook SDK enables us to carry out various evaluations regarding the success of our advertising campaigns by recording app events such as app launches and app installations that are directly related to the ads placed.

For this purpose, pseudonymized data such as the app ID, the app version, information about the start and installation of the app, the advertising ID (IDFA/GAID), information about the end device (e.g. device model and screen size, CPU, memory size, SDK version, operating system and application versions, language and time zone) and your IP address are transmitted to Facebook.

We process your data for the above purposes on the basis of your consent in accordance with Art. 6 para. 1 sentence 1 lit. a GDPR, § 25 TDDDG. You can revoke this consent at any time by moving the slider in the "Advanced settings" of the consent tool for the respective third-party provider. The legality of the processing remains unaffected until the revocation is exercised.
